

Public note

Bruno Pedro

Wednesday, March 23, 2022

In my experience, long hours may actually be predictive of poor future results. It may be that the company is achieving great near-term results only because its team is working hard, and not because the company has the strong fundamentals that are required to achieve lasting success.

Found on A Contrarian Take on Working Long Hours on 2022-03-23 15:10:32.
Tags: #work #long-hours #performance #people Related to: #great-resignation