API Terms of Service are a key element of today's digital infrastructure. Indeed, everytime you use a Software-as-a-Service via its API, you now integrate the technical contract represented by the interface itself. But behind it, you are also accepting the business and legal contract represented by the rights allowed in copying or consuming that interface.

Found on I have read the API Terms of service : the biggest lie of the programmable web - APIscene on 2022-02-25 10:56:21.
