

Public note

Bruno Pedro

Wednesday, April 6, 2022

By starting a new line at the end of each sentence, and splitting sentences themselves at natural breaks between clauses, a text file becomes far easier to edit and version control. Text editors are very good at manipulating lines — so when each sentence is a contiguous block of lines, your editor suddenly becomes a very powerful mechanism for quickly rearranging clauses and ideas.

Found on Semantic Linefeeds on 2022-04-06 16:39:37.

Tags: #writing #technical-writing