Public note

Bruno Pedro

Friday, October 14, 2022

Comlink is description language for autonomous APIs. It allows you to declaratively describe your API integrations in a way that separates the design-time semantics from the run-time implementation details. In other words, Comlink allows for defining the words we use to describe the capability of an API separate from the details for implementing that capability.

———————————————

Found on Comlink | Superface on 2022-10-14 15:42:41.
Tags: #api #api-design #specification #abstraction